Test Plan: Test Plan

1. Introduction

The main goal of testing activities is to provide stakeholders with information about the quality of the tested product.

The prepared document contains key information about testing activities. All software components that will be verified and types of tests that will be conducted have been specified.

2. Scope of tests (types of tests that will be performed as part of the test plan)

Types of tests to be performed:

Unit tests

Functional tests

Performance tests

Types of tests that will not be conducted:

Automated tests - due to insufficient budget for the testing stage.

3. Object of tests

The component being tested is the navigation from the homepage http://skleptest.pl, taking into account the entire navigation logic to the appropriate pages.

4. Pass/fail criteria for tests (deciding points when our tests will end successfully, and when they will not end successfully)

Execution of designed test cases

Server response time does not exceed 700 ms

5. Input/output criteria

Input criteria:

The navigation implementation phase has been completed

Working and configured test environment

Access to a virtual and configured virtual machine

Output criteria:

All test cases have been successfully completed

The component meets all established assumptions from the attached documentation

6. List of requirements/functionalities to be tested

Including all documentation, user stories, scenarios, etc.

7. Test environment

Production http://skleptest.pl

Windows 10 Home 64-bit system

Browsers participating in tests: Firefox, Opera, Google Chrome

8. Test schedule

Conducting functional tests:

Verification of tests based on user stories - 3 hours

Execution of previously designed test cases - 1 hour

Verification of the backend layer

9. Test report

List of realized test cases along with statuses

Other test reports

10. List of tools

TestLink

Jira

11. Incident and bug management

In the testing process, each detected error should be appropriately reported to the system, e.g., Jira. Taking into account the priority of the error, the person assigned (developer), and the component to which the problem pertains. According to the flow adopted by our organization, such a problem should be fixed by the developer and go to retests.

12. Roles and responsibilities

Magda Szestak - script implementation

Magda Szestak - execution of test cases

Magda Szestak - design of test cases
